Dear Peter,

As discussed with your Electorate Office in PT Lincoln could you please direct the enclosed submission and attached letter to wherever submissions are supposed to go.

These so called "public consultations" are fraudulent and deceitful and something has to be done about them!

Yours sincerely

A Submission to the Leading Practice Mining Acts Review

It appears little effort has been put into advising people of the Review.

The lack of meaningful contact with people, let alone affected stakeholders, illustrates a complete disinterest in the opinions of others.

An article in the Eyre Peninsular Tribune on the 9th of February 2017 was my introduction to the Review.

Because of the short time frame and the fact that Summer is the time of greatest workload and management stress for landowners I put before the Review a copy of a letter I wrote to the Eyre Peninsular Tribune in 2012. This letter encapsulates my concerns

Have your say...

Mining concern

Dear Landholders, Meet (E.P. Tribune, April 22, 2012), because they are concerned about mining activity, demonstrates the veracity of the view of Astute Observers that Australian politicians are asleep at the wheel.

I applaud the Saving our Sustainability Group for encouraging landowners to fight for property rights.

The following is the text of a letter I felt compelled to send to a certain mineral exploration group.

Mineral exploration is not welcome on our land in the Hundred o' Hawker.

If you enter upon our land as indicated by your letter on December 14, 2011, you will be doing so against our expressed wishes.

It was John Howard who said "We will decide who will come into Australia and the circumstances under which they come."

If the State can claim this right, then this right should belong also to the individual.

Which state claims a right it denies the individual, comfort is provided the collectors.

This should concern you.

We draw your attention to the situation on Northern Eyre Peninsula where mining companies are advising that they are asking police to arrest people who enter mining leases.

This represents a clear case of mining companies denying to others something they claim for themselves.

Moreover, you will be aware of the situation created by the activities of Ate-Explorations in Indonesia.

Before Christmas three people were shot to death and a large number injured while protesting the activities of miners.

Does it have to come to this here in Australia before you people realise that your arrogant, self-serving attitude is intolerable?

People will stand up for the human right that is property rights.

If you wish to interfere with property then you should purchase the property at the Seller's price and at the Seller's pleasure.

There is a right way and there is a wrong way to do things.

If you are unable to tell the difference, may I suggest you do nothing.

Clearly, you people have more money than we have.

Why do you think you should be able to take from the little we have to add to your own pile?

What is your definition of "left"?

How would you feel if we announced in writing, with 21 days notice, of course, that we were tendering to come peking around the place where you live the place where you work the place you think you own and the place where you conduct your business, on the off chance we might be able to find something to cart away and fog off for a bit of cash.

Cowell intersections

Brevet Sergeant Geoff Lehmann has asked the District Council of Franklin Harbour to place give way signs at four intersections on major thorough ways near the hospital, centre town village and the school in Cowell raising concerns of possible accidents at these intersections.

Mayor Filievas response that Council has to investigate legal aspects because standards have to be met is a bit fine.

The intersections exist and are unlikely to be changed in any way in the near future.

A road safety issue has been raised by a suitably qualified person.

Is the Council going to accept legal responsibility for any accidents that occur whilst it looks into this issue?

What do you think?

Do you have an opinion on either of these issues?
